IDEAS

Insult & image of the day: This simple website will generate each day what we would call "the insult of the day" so that the users can develop new creative ideas. To add visual support, the insult will generate an image as well representing the intended message to be delivered.

Spotify essay generator: This website will allow users to generate Spotify playlists, where the names of the songs will form an essay. The user will have to input a topic of interest, and a playlist will be created and ready to share.

Insult Spotify Playlist Generator: Generate a playlist based on a random insult! Get an "insult of the day" and then generate a Spotify playlist that matches the tone of the insult. The playlist cover will also be added by generating an image that represents the intended message.

Revenge of Clippy: Clippy was the harkening of a virtual assistant within certain Microsoft applications (such as Word) during the earlier days of Windows. However, Clippy was quickly discarded and forgotten over time. Clippy has now made a comeback, but he seeks revenge upon those who discarded his usefulness. Now, instead of trying to help you, he actively sabotages you. How? You simply have to find out.

Spotify KeyTunes: Spotify KeyTunes is a downloadable program that runs in the background and tracks your keyboard inputs as you type on your keyboard. It will randomly pick words that you have typed, search it in Spotify, and then play or add the song into your queue.

Fortune Chip Teller: Tired of mundane, generic fortunes? Try the Fortune Chip Teller - a useless fortune teller site that will give you oddly specific fortunes. It will also search up an image online and pair it with your fortune.

Random recipe generator: In this website the user can choose to either generate a random recipe or input the ingredients they want to use. With the help of AI and databases of existing recipes, we will generate a recipe with exaggerated amounts of ingredients or horrible combinations (such as pizza and pineapple).
